

JOB TITLE AND ROLE (day job) : Spinal extended scope practitioner and clinical lead

PLACE OF WORK : Addenbrookes Hospital, Cambridge

Lucy Cameron qualified in 1991 from Nottingham University and has worked in MSK physiotherapy for more than 18 years in Southampton, London, Surrey, Sydney and Cambridge. In that time she completed the self-directed pathway to membership of the MACP in 2000, and in 2013 completed an MSc in Advanced Musculoskeletal Research and Practice.

For the last 8 years she has worked as a Spinal Extended Scope Practitioner at Addenbrookes Hospital, Cambridge. This has involved working in a Primary Care/Community service and in Secondary care initially as part of the rheumatology led Back Pain Service, and now with the Addenbrooke's neurosurgery team. She is the clinical lead for the ESP team which involves not only the management of complex spinal patients referred to neurosurgery but also teaching, service development and clinical governance.

Lucy has been a member of the ESPPN committee since 2014. She regularly attends the quarterly meeting and is responsible for co-ordinating any ESPPN response to NICE consultations and guidelines.

ROLE AND TASKS IN THE COMMITTEE : Been a member of the ESPPN committee since 2014. Regularly attend the quarterly meeting and responsible for co-ordinating any ESPPN response to NICE consultations and guidelines.

WHY I JOINED THE COMMITTEE : To help run ESP courses which I'd previously found helpful myself. To understand and develop the role of the ESP nationally
