

Are You an Advanced Practice Physiotherapist in Search of New Horizons?

The Advanced Practice Physiotherapy Network is Looking for Innovative Advanced Practice Physiotherapists to Join its National Network

Health care services across the globe face unprecedented times with aging populations, increasing multimorbidities, changes in workforce supply, the availability of new technologies and increasing service user demand.

Advanced Practice Physiotherapists have a proven track record in negating some of these challenges across a wealth of specialties e.g. musculoskeletal, respiratory, pelvic health, neurology, pain management, emergency care and rheumatology services.

These roles not only substitute for traditional medical services, but have evolved to further enhance the service user journey through the unique perspective that Advanced Practice Physiotherapists can provide e.g. complex person-centred decision making, advanced communication skills, cross boundary networking and multidisciplinary relationship building.
